Colorful CONFIDENCE

Change in our lives is inevitable. How we prepare for, accept, and adjust to these turning points is essential. Many of these changes come with big decisions and financial shifts.

Women investors have unique needs. Research shows that over 80% of women will be solely responsible for their finances at some point in their lives due to the death of a spouse, divorce, or another reason.¹

Renée Pastor's clear, easy-to-understand process helps women know which simple action steps to take next. Renee's talks give women a vibrant confidence to take control of their finances.

About RENÉE PASTOR

Clients have trusted Renée's honest and sincere approach to helping manage wealth for decades. With a caring curiosity about the well-being of her clients and their families, Renée focuses on helping women adapt to life-changing events and pre-retirees transitioning into retirement.

Renée has spent her life overcoming challenges, both personal and professional. She grew up in a large household where the scarcity of money caused a lot of mental and emotional anguish – and eventually broke up her family. In her adult life, she first married into a similar situation and understands the emotional impact money issues have on our lives and relationships.

As a speaker Renée knows the challenges her audiences face when it comes to money. Her talks give her audiences the confidence they need to face whatever life throws their way. Renée's insight tames fear by applying sound, financial planning principles designed to build and maintain confidence.

This is what makes Renée the trusted voice on women's wealth.
